INTRODUCTION & BACKGROUND

The City of West Hollywood is located in an urban and vibrant part of Los Angeles County, with Beverly Hills to the west, Hollywood to the east, the Hollywood Hills to the north, and the Fairfax District to the south. The City includes national destinations and landmarks such as the Sunset Strip, the Avenues Art and Design District, the Pacific Design Center, and a gay and lesbian nightlife area. The City is 1.9 square miles in size and home to approximately 35,000 residents. Annually, over 1.2 million visitors come to the City and many stay in one of the City’s eighteen hotels, which have some of the highest average daily rates in the Los Angeles region, at $231, as well as a very healthy occupancy rate of 86%.

Special events are an important part of West Hollywood, throughout the year many high profile and widely recognized special events are held in the City. The City prides itself on being a good example of how arts and culture, in the form of the City’s various special events, can be utilized in a very positive economic way. Each year the City sponsors or co-sponsors approximately sixty special events. The City’s special events range from very large festivals, such as the Halloween Carnaval, which attracts approximately half-a-million participants, to small community oriented special interest lectures and celebrations with less than fifty participants. Annually, the City spends over $2.5 million on these events, including staff time, supplemental public safety costs, and direct financial assistance. The City plays various roles in the production of these events; some are completely planned by City staff, others are produced by third parties that work closely with City staff, and in other cases the City simply provides financial assistance.

The City of West Hollywood is seeking a consultant to prepare an analysis and report, examining and quantifying the economic impact of the City’s major special events, including the overall economic impact the events have on local stores, restaurants, bars/nightclubs, and hotels, as well as the direct revenues produced for the City. The City’s major annual special events include the AIDS Walk, Book Fair, Christopher Street West Festival and Pride Parade, various Oscar, Emmy, and Grammy parties, Halloween Carnaval, Los Angeles Marathon, Russian Cultural Festival, and the Sunset Strip Music Festival. Throughout the assignment, City staff will provide available data, as necessary for the project; it is anticipated that the consultant would work closely with City staff throughout the project. The City anticipates the final work product would be a report with accompanying quantitative analyses and tables. The Scope of Work for the project is detailed further in this Request for Proposals (“RFP”). The City anticipates entering into an agreement based on a not-to-exceed contract amount.
SCOPE OF WORK

The consultant will provide the City with an analysis and report, examining and quantifying the economic impact of special events in the City. This report shall detail the economic impact of each major special event, as well as all events combined. Specifically, the final work product (report) shall include:

Economic Impact Analysis

1) An estimate of the net increase in direct spending within the City associated with new visitors to the City for each major special event and all special events combined; including spending on accommodations, food and beverage, entertainment, and shopping.

   The City’s entertainment destinations are popular with local residents as well as visitors. On many weekends the City’s eating/drinking establishments are busy and most hotels are near capacity. With this in mind, the consultant should only consider the new spending that events bring into the City.

2) An estimate of the direct spending, within the City, associated with the production of special events; funds spent by the producers of the events (including the City).

3) An estimate of the economic impact, within the City, associated with the multiplier effects (indirect and induced) of the new direct spending for each major special event as it circulates through the local economy.

4) An estimate of the additional tax and other City revenues generated from each major special event. City revenues shall include transient occupancy tax, sales tax, business license tax, special event permit revenue, and parking revenues.

5) An estimate of the increase in jobs associated with the City’s special events.

Further Analysis and Research Regarding the City’s Special Events

Special events are an important marketing and branding tool for West Hollywood, because they increase the goodwill associated with the City. In addition to the economic impact analysis requested above, the City desires that the consultant to study the intangible benefits the City receives due to special events.

6) The consultant shall interview owners or managers of local hotels, retail stores, and food/beverage establishments, as well as the producers of various special events in the City, regarding the impact of the City’s special events on their businesses, to gain qualitative data on the economic impact of the City’s special events. The consultant shall assume that a total of 30 interviews will take place. As necessary, the City or Chamber of Commerce can provide contact information for potential interviewees.

7) The consultant shall also include a social media assessment of the City’s special events. This assessment should be focused on quantitative data regarding the social media reach of the events. The City’s desire is that the consultant would acquire, or generate, social media analytics and/or measurements (mined from social media data) regarding references to the City’s special events, to gain an understanding of the attendees at the events who are also casually publicizing the City through their use of social media.

8) Assess and value, to the extent feasible, the intangible benefits to the City of special events (i.e. increased Goodwill).

Other Items

9) The consultant should consider any other economic factors, calculations or indices not included above, but that they believe are pertinent to the economic impact discussion, based on their experience.

10) The consultant shall provide any recommendations that could improve the economic benefit of the City’s special events, based on the consultant’s research and analysis.

Document – The final work product should be in a report format, including executive summary, background information, findings, quantitative analyses, qualitative research, and recommendations/conclusion. The consultant should be prepared to provide the City with 25 bound copies of the final report, as well as an electronic copy.

Meetings/Presentations – The City anticipates the consultant would need to attend up to three meetings with City staff (kick-off meeting, check-in meeting with initial data analysis and research, and final meeting with staff to review the draft report). The City also anticipates the consultant would need to make two formal presentations of the report/data; one to executive level staff at the City and the other to the City Council.

It is anticipated the consultant would work closely with City staff on the assignment. City staff will provide available data and information to the consultant, as necessary. Staff will also review the analysis and draft report, and provide comments prior to the completion of the final document.
